Who we are

Le Petit Septième is a digital medium that deals with cinema and whose mission is to highlight and make accessible cinema that differs from that produced in Hollywood: auteur cinema, independent cinema and national cinemas of several countries. It thus presents on its website bilingual film reviews of fiction or documentaries, Quebec and international. He also devotes particular attention to short films, a type of production unknown to the general public. Le Petit Septième thus covers many film festivals in Quebec and Canada, theatrical releases, as well as new releases available online.

Founded in 2012 by François Grondin and Annie Tanguay, its team now has about fifteen people, many of whom are, in addition to being critics, on festival juries or in the production industry.
